

OWNING CHANGE, UNLOCKING POTENTIAL

As technology innovation accelerates, business demands increase. The IT workforce will grow twice as fast in the next 10 years compared with the overall U.S. workforce. Access to IT training and upskilling programs has never been in higher demand.

In 2015, TEKsystems, a leading provider of business and technology services, launched a partnership with Per Scholas, a nationally recognized leader in technology workforce training, to bridge the gap between increased need for skilled technologists and sustainable talent pipelines. TEKsystems has matched 1,000-plus Per Scholas graduates with careers in IT since then.

“We’re proud of everything we’ve accomplished with Per Scholas over the last decade and remain unified in our mission to level the playing field for a more inclusive tech workforce.”
